Quarterly manager commentary

(as of 9/30/21)

Market sentiment cooled as a variety of risk factors weighted on re-opening momentum. The Delta variant placed a governor on near term growth and contributed to supply bottlenecks. Central bankers began removing accommodation considering the recovery to date and inflation pressures. While the rate of acceleration of global growth may have slowed, the overall level remains healthy. Against this backdrop, the portfolio's holdings of Commercial Mortgage-Backed Securities posted a quarterly return of 1.84% while global real estate securities were up 1.80% (return figures reported on a gross, unlevered basis).

Commercial real estate fundamentals continued to show signs of improvement as a recovery in economic activity, tenant credit, and the longer-term growth outlook continued to attract investors. The dispersion of property-specific fundamental drivers is evolving but remains heightened; winners and losers will emerge over time as operators adapt to these trends. Overall demand for commercial real estate exposure remained intact but pockets of weakness emerged in part due to a volatile interest rate outlook.

A continuation of economic growth will benefit real estate fundamentals overall, however property level performance and security selection are highly relevant at this point in the recovery. Monetary policy developments, inflation, interest rates, and the pace of job growth are significant variables. The absolute yield profile of real estate remains supportive as the hunt for yield persists and investors search for alternative credit exposures.

Distribution details

Current distribution (monthly)	$0.0875
Annualized distribution rate	6.93%

Distributions may be paid from sources of income other than ordinary income, such as net realized short-term capital gains, net realized long-term capital gains and return of capital. Based on current estimates, we anticipate the current distribution has been paid from ordinary income. The actual amounts and sources of the amounts for tax reporting purposes will depend upon the Fund's investment experience during the remainder of its fiscal year and may be subject to changes based on tax regulations. If a distribution includes anything other than net investment income, the Fund provides a Section 19(a) notice of the best estimate of its distribution sources at that time. These estimates may not match the final tax characterization (for the full year's distributions) contained in shareholders' 1099-DIV forms after the end of the year. The annualized distribution rate is the monthly per share distribution times 12, divided by the end-of-month market price.

Important risks

An investor should consider investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses carefully before investing. To obtain an annual report or semi-annual report which contains this and other information visit www.principalcef.com or call 855.838.9485. Read them carefully before investing.

An investment in the Fund is not appropriate for all investors and is not intended to be a complete investment program. The Fund is designed as a long-term investment and not as a trading vehicle.

Investing in the Fund involves risks, including the risk that you may receive little or no return on your investment or that you may lose part or even all of your investment. Therefore, before investing you should carefully consider the risks that you assume when you invest in the Fund's common shares. Securities backed by commercial real estate assets are subject to securities market risks similar to those of direct ownership of commercial real estate loans including, but not limited to, declines in the value of real estate, declines in rental or occupancy rates and risks related to general and local economic conditions.

The Fund's investment objectives and policies are not designed to seek to return the initial investment to investors that purchase shares.

Investing in the Fund involves risks, including exposure to below-investment grade investments (i.e., "junk bonds"). The Fund's net asset value will vary and its distribution rate may vary and both may be affected by numerous factors, including changes in the market spread over a specified benchmark, market interest rates and performance of the broader equity markets. Fluctuations in net asset value may be magnified as a result of the Fund's use of leverage. Shares of closed-end investment companies frequently trade at a discount from their net asset value and initial offering prices. The risks associated with this characteristic of closed-end investment companies may be greater for investors expecting to sell their shares in a relatively short period after completion of the initial public offering. For further discussion of these and additional risks associated with an investment in the Fund see the Prospectus.

The Fund is a closed-end fund and does not continuously issue shares for sale as open-end mutual funds do. The Fund trades in the secondary market. Investors wishing to buy or sell shares need to place orders through an intermediary or broker. The share price of a closed-end fund is based on the market's value.

Diversification does not eliminate the risk of experiencing investment losses.
